

Audio Video Design Services

We provide professional, independent design consulting and specifications for your project audio and video needs

AV systems have become an integral part of architectural design yet, they are often not planned for early enough in the design process. Our Certified Technology Specialist help you plan and integrate these important systems into your next project.

Let us help you take the guess work out of your AV design programs

Audio paging, music playback, live sound specifications

Video / plasma, LCD, LED screens, control systems

Early review of project requirements with budget planning

Cost analysis and presentation of various options

Architectural integration

Interior design layout and details in plan and elevations

Wiring methods and line diagrams

Equipment specifications, performance criteria with multi-named manufacturers for competitive bidding

Supplier / contractor criteria specifications

CAD plans

Installation management on site

System review and punch list

Control systems commissioning

User training and orientation of system benefits and functions